

Jenny Cubitt, RN, BSc Nsg, MHA, FACORN

Jenny Cubitt is a perioperative nurse with extensive experience and has worked in both the public and private sector in Australia. She is currently the Nurse Manager at Canterbury Hospital in Sydney, New South Wales (NSW).

She has represented perioperative nurses on many committees over the years at a state and national level including NSW Surgical Services Taskforce and the Advisory Committee on the Safety of Medical Devices for the Therapeutics Goods Administration (TGA). She is on the Executive for the NSW Operating Theatre Association and is the team leader for the Professional Initiatives & Advocacy team.

Jenny is a past President for NSW OTA and has served on the Australian College of Operating Room Nurses (ACORN) Board. She has contributed to the development and review of ACORN standards including Surgical Plume, Fire Safety, Staffing and the Role of the Anaesthetic Nurse.

Jenny was the team leader for the taskforce that worked with the Ministry of Health who produced the Work Health & Safety Guideline for Controlling Exposure to Surgical Plume.